

www. Chance-for-Science .de

Platform for fled scientists and German research institutions

Background

Researchers and scientists coming to Germany as refugees have limited opportunities to deal with research topics or none at all. Besides the individual difficulties caused by such situation, it is also a loss of research capacity for the respective scientific field. The online platform www.chance-for-science.de aims at facilitating the access to German universities and colleagues of the same research field for scientists who fled to Germany.

The Platform

By creating an online account and providing information on previous research work and research interests, scientists of German research institutions and scientists who fled to Germany can use the platform to match research interests and communicate with each other.

Objective

Scientists of German research institutions support fled scientists to continue their research while they also benefit from the exchange of knowledge. This could be for instance:

- providing access to literature/to libraries
- offering invitations to events of the research institutions
- offering invitations to guest lectures at universities
- conducting joint publications
- offering scientific exchange via occasional Skype appointments
- ...

Initiator and responsible project leader
Prof. Dr. Carmen Bachmann

Leipzig University
Grimmaische Straße 12
04109 Leipzig (Germany)

Contact

Email: info@chance-for-science.de
Phone: + 49 (0)341 / 97 - 33592
(Monday to Thursday 10.00 - 12.00 am and 2.00 - 4.00 pm)

If you want to support our project, please do not hesitate to contact us. Thank you for helping with your donation.

Bank information

Recipient:	Universitaet Leipzig
Bank:	Ostsaechsische Sparkasse Dresden
IBAN:	DE 82 8505 0300 3153 0113 70
BIC:	OSDD DE 81XXX
Reference 1:	1712-0617
Reference 2:	„gefleehtete Wissenschaftler“